

MORRISVILLE WINS ANNUAL GRID CLASSIC HERE BY NARROW MARGIN OF ONE POINT; CAPTURES BUCKS COUNTY GRID CROWN

Bulldogs and Cardinal and Gray Meet in Well-Played Game Before 2500 Spectators; Bristol Boys Make Fine Showing Against Heavier Rivals; Two School Bands and Cadets Enliven Occasion With Music.

A scrappy and determined Cardinal and Gray grid outfit waged an even battle with the strong and heavily favored Morrisville Bulldogs on the local high school field, yesterday morning, in the annual Turkey-Day grid classic, but fell short of victory when they were nosed out, 8-7, by the invaders.

As a result of the triumph, the boys coached by John Hoffman retained the Lower Bucks conference title which they won for the first time last year, when they upset Bristol, 26-6, at Morrisville. The Bulldogs met the foe in an acid test of their strength and emerged victorious for the first time in the 11-year-old feud on the Cardinal and Gray gridiron.

In spite of the freezing temperature that settled over the local stadium, a record crowd of approximately 2500 fans turned out to witness the gigantic struggle for the conference championship. And they received their money's worth, as the game was filled with action and kept the fans on edge throughout the entire contest. The game was hard-fought, cleanly played, and Morrisville earned a clear-cut decision over the Cards.

In achieving the triumph, the Bulldogs had slightly the better of the game in spite of the fact it was all Bristol in the opening period. For instance, Morrisville gained 98 yards from scrimmage by rushing the ball, but lost 68 via the same method. At the same time, the Cardinals rushed the ball 55 yards and lost 35 by rushing. Each team completed five passes, but Morrisville gained 51 yards on their completed aeriels, while Bristol's net yardage through the air was 65 yards. However, Bristol took to the air 17 times as compared with nine attempts made by the Bulldogs. In points, average yards on punts, punts returned, and yardage on returned punts, as well as kickoffs, etc., were apparently even. However, Bristol made five first downs to four for Morrisville, and returned five punts for 61 yards as compared with three punts returned for 37 yards by the Bulldogs.

The margin of victory was provided by a safety in the second period when the Bulldogs did all their scoring to amass an 8-0 lead at the recess period. Bristol came up with their lone touchdown in the third chapter to slice into Morrisville's lead, reducing it to its lowest terms and the final margin of victory by a single point, 8-7. This resulted when Bristol counted the point after touchdown.

Even though the entire first period was played in Morrisville's territory, the Cardinals couldn't penetrate deep enough to become a serious threat. However, Jim Yeager fumbled back on his own 12-yard line but he quickly recovered there, then kicked out of danger to "save" the day.

Kicking with the wind in the second period, the Bulldogs were quick to take advantage of the first break of the game to chalk up the first score and two points on a safety. Jim Yeager booted the ball down the field 44 yards to Bristol's four-yard line where Hardy Johnson picked it up and fumbled it. The ball rolled into the end zone and before the Bristol back could get back and pick it up again, he was dropped in his tracks by Albie Johnson and Frank Mattis of Morrisville for the safety.

Bristol kicked off to Morrisville from their own 20 and the Bulldogs took the ball on their own 45 and returned it seven yards to the home club's 48. And before Bristol handled the ball again, the visitors had registered their six-pointer to stretch their lead to 8-6, which was just beyond the Cards' reach.

A pair of fine passes tossed by Jim Yeager to Bill Talone and El McClune netted a total yardage of 54 yards for the touchdown. The first was completed to Talone on Bristol's 20, and the latter ran down to the eight before he was downed for a net gain of 39 yards. Then, after Yeager was tossed back on the 13 by Joe Ciarella, the Bulldog ace heaved another aerial, this time to El McClune, who cut over to the left to make a sparkling catch of the pass in the end zone to chalk up the touchdown. The extra point attempt failed.

Bristol received the kick-off and on two completed passes, which netted 17 and 14 yards, carried the local outfit down into the Bulldogs' territory before Jim Yeager intercepted a pass on his own 29. The Bristol passes were completed to Bill Gallagher and Steve Florito, respectively.

It wasn't until the early moments of the third period that the Cards received their scoring opportunity as a result of a break on which they took full advantage to score. Danny Dimidio took the second half kickoff and ran it back beautifully for 43 yards to the Bulldogs' 42-yard stripe.

After three plays the Cards were on the Morrisville 43-yard line. Danny then kicked to the three-yard line where Andy Gavin fumbled and Wilmer White, who was down under the kick fast, recovered for Bristol. Dimidio hit the line twice to go over from the one yard line with the lone Bristol touchdown, making the score 8-6. And when Wilbur Van Lenten sent the piskin through the uprights beautifully for the extra, counter, Coach Steve Juenger's boys trailed by a single point, 8-7, which eventually became the final score.

Bristol's only other scoring opportunity came at the outset of the second period when Joe Pica recovered Yeager's fumble on the first play of the period on Morrisville's 19-yard line. However, the incomparable Yeager quickly redeemed himself when he intercepted a pass on the 10-yard line and returned it to the 23-yard stripe.

Neither team threatened beyond that except for a couple of times when long punts by both clubs set the opposition back deep into their own territory. Once on such an occasion, Dimidio had to rush his kick to get it off just on time after a bad pass from center which Danny nearly fumbled deep in the end zone.

Morrisville's great offensive attack could get nowhere on six straight attempts to crash the local forward wall. This occurred in the fourth period between a pair of Bristol punts. In the six attempts to smash Bristol's front

RECS RETAIN CROWN IN INDEPENDENT GROUP

Saint Ann's Defeated in Game
For Lower Bucks County Honors

FINAL SCORE IS 8 TO 6

The cold spell and sleet storm which swept the Bristol high school field yesterday afternoon failed to stop the traditional game between the Bristol Rees and St. Ann's A. A. to help decide the Lower Bucks County independent championship. The Rees retained their crown by subduing the Saints, 8 to 6.

The weather held down the attendance, but those who sat in the cars parked along the side-lines saw a well-played game from the start to the finish, and saw the Red and Black take advantage of two "breaks" to score eight points in the first four minutes of play, which was enough to win the contest.

The first quarter of the game was all to the Rees, but in the remainder of the tilt it was all St. Ann's. In the number of first downs, the Purple and Gold held the edge, 8-4. The second half saw the heretofore strong offense of the Rees whither before a mighty St. Ann's line.

A safety in the first two minutes of the tilt put the Recreation team in front. "Punkie" Zeffries kicked off and the ball was returned to the 40 by DeLuca. St. Ann's hit the line twice to no advantage and then Conti's kick was blocked and it rolled to the six-yard line where Wilson recovered for the Rees. Zeffries tried to pierce the St. Ann's line and was stopped. Bono hit it twice and still could not gain. On the fourth try, Zeffries tried tackle and failed, and St. Ann's took the oval on its four-yard line.

On the first play, Conti tried a fake kick from in his end zone and before he reached the line of scrimmage he was spilled by Johnny Dougherty, giving the Rees a safety and two points.

It was St. Ann's turn to kick, from their 20, and Profy did the booting. His toe glided the ball directly to Freddie Kutzer. Kutzer cut in to the center of the field and then made a fast twist to elude two would-be St. Ann's tacklers and only Petrucci was between him and the goal line, but the St. Ann's safety man managed to toss him out of bounds on the 19-yard line. The Rees tried a pass but it was downed. Two line plays failed and on

MOTORISTS URGED TO TAKE SAFETY MEASURES

First Snow-Fall May Be Only
A Warning of What Is To Be Expected

TIME NOW TO PREPARE

HARRISBURG, Nov. 25.—With the arrival of the first light snowfall, State safety authorities urged motorists to consider it as Nature's warning of more severe storms to come and to prepare for safe winter driving.

When snow blankets the highways and icy conditions prevail on city streets, motorists should be prepared to exercise greater driving care, taking practical precautions for greater safety to help cut down that part of the annual death and accident toll attributable to winter weather. Daniel J. McCarthy, chief of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Highway Safety, said today.

"In snow or ice weather," said McCarthy, "safety engineers and police traffic officials agree that tire chains provide the most positive safety for stop-and-go traction. Even with chains, however, drivers should be extra cautious on ice and snow because some less careful persons may not be so well prepared for safe driving."

Other safety suggestions for motorists follow:

1. Test brakes for simultaneous gripping.

2. Check conditions of windshield wiper, defroster and tire chains.

3. Travel at less than moderate speeds on snow or ice covered highways or city streets, and watch out for children on sleds.

4. Shift into second gear for more gradual braking on snow or ice, particularly if not safeguarded by tire chains.

5. Take curves slowly and don't try to pass cars ahead of you on hills or curves. Descend steep hills in second gear if roads are icy.

6. Apply brakes with clutch engaged and before you ordinarily would in dry weather. Don't depend on your horn because other car windows may be closed and some drivers (especially in country) wear ear muffs.

7. Exercise greater caution generally and open car windows occasionally to prevent window fogging up and, in old cars, possible danger from carbon monoxide gas.

Remember: "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

MISS MARY S. TAYLOR IS BRIDE OF J. E. GALL

Nuptial Ceremony Takes Place
In Holmesburg Presbyterian Church

A TRIP TO DELAWARE

The Holmesburg Presbyterian Church was the scene of a wedding, Wednesday evening at seven, when Miss Mary S. Taylor, Bristol Pike, became the bride of Joseph E. Gall, 8028 Dilman street, Philadelphia.

The Rev. Cleveland Frame officiated. Mrs. Harvey Glaser and Mrs. Edward Terry, Holmesburg, sang "Oh Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly." Arthur Lahey, organist, played Lohengrin's Wedding March as the bridal party entered the church, and also accompanied the soloists.

Miss Elizabeth Daniels, Bath street, attended the bride as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. George Schumacher, Newport Road, sister of the bride, and Miss Jennie Gall, Philadelphia, sister of the groom. The best man was Dr. Edward Terry, Holmesburg, and the ushers were Harvey Glaser and Edward Siasler, Holmesburg.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, George Schumacher, Newport Road, was gownned in white broadcloth velvet, fashioned on form-fitting lines. The neckline was cut V-shape and the long sleeves were shirred at the shoulders and trimmed with a small rhinestone pin. The front of the bodice was shirred and finished with a rhinestone clip. The long skirt ended with a train. The bridal veil of tulle with face veil, was edged with lace and had a wide panel of lace at the end of the train. The veil was attached to a cap of tulle trimmed with a Dutch crown of lace, rhinestones and orange blossoms. She wore white satin sandals and carried white gardenias.

The maid of honor was garbed in aquamarine moire taffeta, jacket effect with short puffed sleeves, V-shape neckline and long full skirt. The neckline was finished with a cluster of wine-toned artificial flowers. A doll hat of taffeta to match her gown, trimmed with wine-toned flowers, long lace mitts in wine tone, silver slippers, completed her costume, and she carried talisman roses.

The bridesmaids were attired in gowns fashioned alike. They wore a depe shade of rose moire taffeta made with V-shape neckline, and collars of self-material, short puffed sleeves and long, full skirts. Each dress was trimmed with a cluster of wine-toned artificial flowers at the neckline. They wore doll hats of taffeta the tone of their gowns, trimmed with wine-toned flowers. Their long lace mitts were wine tone, and each carried yellow roses.

A reception was held in the Sunday School room of the church for the immediate relatives, 40 attending. The couple left Wednesday evening for a motor trip to Rehoboth Beach.

Pope Pius Gravely Ill

Rome, Nov. 25.—Pope Pius XI., was stricken gravely ill today as the result of a heart attack. Restoratives immediately were administered, and soon afterward the Pontiff was placed in an oxygen tent.

An official bulletin issued by the Holy See announced: "The Pope after celebrating mass was stricken with an attack of cardio-asthma, which, for the moment, is ameliorating." The Pontiff, it was learned, was stricken while he was in the solitude of his private chapel. He might have died if not for the quick thinking of his male nurse, a Benedictine monk, who summoned aid. Vatican doctors would not pronounce on the Pontiff's chances of survival. They said that they must first see how the Holy Father acts to prolonged treatment today and tonight.

The Pope, it was expected, will remain in the oxygen tent all today.

Doctors said there was every indication that camphor injections and stimulants would have a restorative effect on the Pope, but beyond that they did not know. They said they doubted whether in any event the Pope would be able to leave his bed for some time.

Gifts of Miscellaneous Nature Are Presented

A miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Violet Sperling, teacher in the Harriman school, by the Eighth Grade Girls' Club, Monday evening, at the home of Miss Geraldine Seehold, Hayes street.

The evening was enjoyed in a social way, and refreshments were served to the Misses Geraldine Kempton, Clara DiVincino, Katharine McKnight, Anna Choma, Gladys Kline, Geraldine Seehold, Blanche Brown, Reba Corn, Roberta Sutton, Marion Salakta, Florence Napa, Edith Smith, Lillian Dello, Joyce Westgate, Doris Shire, Betty Louder, Carmella DiVita, Jane West.

FIRST SNOW OF SEASON BLOCKS MOTOR TRAFFIC

Many Motorists Are Stalled and Ditched Along the County Highways

TEMPERATURE AT 20°

Pennsylvania today was digging itself out of one of the heaviest snowfalls in years.

Ranging in depth from two to ten inches, the heavy blanket of snow disrupted transportation over the Thanksgiving holiday.

Hundreds of highway and street accidents of a minor nature were reported from all sections of the state. Although there were many tragic accidents, fatalities were negligible. Automobile clubs throughout the state broadcast frequent warnings urging motorists to remain at home, to stay within city limits and use chains if they would venture out.

Old Man Winter, who delayed his arrival until Thanksgiving Day, came with great gusto, and in fury and flurry literally snowed this section under.

Ushered in with quickly dropping temperature and lowering skies, yesterday, he was soon accompanied by a mixture of rain and snow, which turned to hail during the evening, then back to snow which drifted during the night to extents which completely blocked some of the roads in outlying sections.

Cars were "ditched" during the night.

Junior Drum and Bugle Corps Making Progress

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 25.—A very gratifying report of the American Legion Junior Drum and Bugle Corps, which made an excellent showing at the Republicans' victory parade in Doylestown, was submitted by its advisor, Samuel E. Spare, at the well-attended meeting of the Albert R. Atkinson, Jr., Post, No. 210, A. L., held in the Legion Home, Monday evening.

Past Commander Spare announced that the enrollment in the recently organized outfit is quite large and that quite a number of boys are on the waiting list. The Bristol Junior Cadet Corps gave the local organization the use of a number of instruments at the time of the parade here, and it is probable these instruments will be purchased for the use of the boys in the County Seat. The drum section of the corps has been invited to Bristol, where it will be given instructions.

HERITAGE SHOULD MAKE AMERICANS MOST GRATEFUL

So States Rev. George E. Boswell in Thanksgiving
Sermon Here

AT THE UNION SERVICE

Is Fine Thing to Really Appreciate Vast Number of Blessings

In delivering the sermon at the union Thanksgiving service in Bristol Presbyterian Church, yesterday morning, the Rev. George E. Boswell, St. James' Episcopal Church rector, based his message upon: "That good thing which was committed until thee, keep by the Holy Spirit which dwelleth in us" (2nd Tim. 1:14).

The sermon follows: Once again, the fleeting months of time have brought to our nation, Thanksgiving Day, a day on which the American people are bidden by proclamation of the President, to assemble together in their respective houses of worship, to give thanks to Almighty God, for the blessing of life, liberty and happiness. Unfortunately only a very small percentage of Americans will respond, and catch the real meaning of today; for football games and family dinner parties and attendance at the theatres, seem vastly more important to a great many American people.

Certainly those who do endeavor to show their gratitude to God for their blessings, need no President's proclamation to remind them to do so, for deep in the heart of every true American, gratitude to God should be uppermost, not only on one day but on every day of the calendar year. God has truly made us a great nation, we have a heritage which ought to make us rejoice, and honestly endeavor to be worthy of it.

STICKS TO HIS LAST

What with Shakespeare, big business board directorships, election campaign spellbinding and various other literary and political and social pursuits, the present day heroes of the prize ring seem to be interested in many things that have nothing to do with the business in hand, to the wonderment and dismay of hordes of hero-worshippers. It is comforting to read in a dispatch from New York that the current titleholder in the heavyweight division feels that "fighting is my business."

Joe Louis has signed for a championship title defense bout with John Henry Lewis, who has been light-heavyweight champion for three years. A few details must be adjudicated by the boxing commissioners before the bout can win official recognition; but if it is held, and the signs appear favorable, it will offer several interesting features to fight fans. It will be the fifth occasion on which Joe Louis has defended his title, and it will be the first all-Negro heavyweight title duel since Jack Johnson met and outpointed Jim Johnson in Paris a quarter of a century ago.

The formal agreement between contestants in a major boxing match always is important sports news, but there is one feature of this particular affair which is most likely to command the attention of the cash customers, and that is the comment of Joe Louis, so different from what we have been accustomed to hear of late, when he said, "fighting is my business."

MAPPING PARADISE

Where was the starting point of the human race? Scripture places it in Asia Minor; the opinions of scientists are as diverse and many as there are scientists. The newest drawing of the first map of the world advances the theory that the cradle of mankind was in Central Africa. This belief is expounded by Alonzo W. Pond, archeologist and anthropologist, who says that in the Sahara have been found stone tools believed to be 500,000 years old. Somewhere in the Sahara or farther south in the dark continent, he says, science eventually may find the place of the dispersal of man, the beginning of the spread of homo sapiens through the Barbary States, where food was abundant, to Europe and Asia by way of the Nile, Asia Minor and Gibraltar.

This avenue of scientific research is well-trod by savants and probably will be for thousands of years to come. One remarkable discovery contradicting another. No doubt the endeavor is praiseworthy and serves some good purpose, but the fact remains that there are millions of persons busy about other things and content in the belief that the Garden of Eden was in what we call Palestine; still others string along with Mark Twain, who settled the matter to his own satisfaction, once and for all, when he wrote two little books which set Adam and Eve right down in the middle of the Niagara Frontier.

In Illinois a WPA leaner suffered painful contusions when the shovel gave way. Always a solemn sight is the fallen idle.

Everywhere history seems to have gone into reverse. Time marches backward in the Nazi realm, while over here the Third Term question is answered before it is asked.

graphical position, we have an inherited refinement, we have liberty and freedom which others do not have and so, the blessings of American citizenship we seem to take for granted, but we forget that our national blessings place upon every living person in this vast commonwealth a great responsibility. Our blessings are indeed a challenge.

I need hardly remind you that America was founded by small groups of persecuted people, who came to this country seeking religious freedom. The pioneer settlers of America did not bring with them very much tangible property, and in the primitive forests they found neither homes, nor schools, nor churches, nor railroads, nor factories. But they were a God-loving and a God-fearing people and they brought with them the seeds of a great civilization. They had the kind of character which was, and still is, necessary to make real Americans. Our forefathers had creative faith in Almighty God, they had real Christian courage, and they have given us a background which is our solemn responsibility to preserve and hand on to future generations.

After the war of Independence, in those fateful days when the new-born nation, America, seemed likely to die in its cradle, when the Constitutional convention was meeting in Philadelphia in order to form a "More perfect Union, and to establish justice and to insure domestic tranquility and to provide for the common defense," a woman rushed up to Benjamin Franklin on the street as he was coming from the convention and asked him: "Is the new nation to be a Monarchy or a Democracy?" and Franklin replied: "A democracy if we can keep it that way. These words are very significant, and today for our difference in national affairs, our lack of Christian citizenship, has nearly changed our democracy into a dictatorship.

Long ago St. Paul counseled Timothy, that good thing which has been committed to you, keep. As a nation much indeed has been committed unto us. This whole world which is virtually an armed camp ready to tear at each other's throats despite the recent Peace Pact at Munich, looks to America. As a nation we are in a very peculiar position. We are blessed with wealth, wisdom and wares as no other nation. All of us know that we were dragged into the world war in order to make the world safe for democracy and that it seems to me is still our responsibility. The whole world looks to us for the preservation of Peace; for the establishment of Christian ideals, and we ourselves are not inwardly strong.

Everyone who thinks seriously must realize that after the world war something snapped in American manhood, and for the past decade there has been a serious deterioration of American citizenship. Thomas Jefferson once said, No man has the right to enjoy the privilege of American citizenship who is unwilling to fight to preserve them," and his words re-echo on us today. If ever there was a time when we needed to preserve the high standards of manhood and womanhood which have been entrusted to us, it is now. The deterioration of citizenship, the lack of civic pride, the false ideas of patriotism that are so prevalent are all due to one basic fact, and that is our total lack of spiritual consciousness. Religion today to the average American is a mere code of ethics. We have completely lost our sense of worship; yet our past is so full of blessings that Gratitude should fill our hearts to overflowing. There should be within each of us, a feeling toward God that had to be outwardly expressed.

As a rule, we are fairly careful about thanking men and women who do things for us. We have learned that is a profitable policy. Is it as much our rule to Thank God for His part in our lives, for He is the sum and substance of life? It should be. It should be part of our every day doings to think seriously of the good things that have come not only to ourselves, but also to those who are near and dear to us. Our health, our food, our talent, our friends, who could begin to enumerate all of the blessings that fill our lives to overflowing. To an earthly sovereign from whom we had received nothing, we would bow in his presence. Should we not then thank God who gives us all and who sent His only begotten Son into the world that we might have life and have it more abundantly.

As one thinks back over our national history to the days when Thanksgiving Day was first proposed, we realize how vastly different conditions were then. The crops had failed, a long drought had visited this country, starvation in addition to the rigors of a New England winter was facing many of the colonists, besides the Indians were a problem. Under such conditions the early colonists of America lifted their eyes from the dark things of life, they counted their blessings and they found cause for which to thank God for His blessings and for His goodness. No year ever passes without abundant reasons for our thanking God for His manifold blessings. Conditions may not be as ideal as we think they ought to be, but if anyone wants to lose his pessimism, then let him contrast conditions of people in other countries or even conditions of people in our own country in the pioneer days with present day living. We do not think very much about the conveniences we have, or the opportunities that are before us both as individuals or as a nation. The path of success is always paved with self-sacrifice. Today America is in a position of world leadership, but surely we will fall far short of our responsibility, if we lead the world only in material things and in commercial output. If ever there was a time when the world needed spiritual leadership it is at present. Our forefathers were spiritually minded men, to them God was real and vital, and St. Paul's words to Timothy, "That good thing which has been committed unto thee, keep," have an ominous meaning for us. We have a heritage which ought to make us the most grateful people in the world; we have also a responsibility which we cannot evade or dodge. Few truths need more to be driven home to the public conscience today than the simple fact, it is easy to waste what it is hard to build. Our heritage as Americans was given us at a great cost to those who lived before us, and we are living very prodigal, lives, wasting the very substance of American manhood and womanhood in riotous living.

Surely on this Thanksgiving Day we do well to refresh our minds that we have a great heritage, worth keeping and improving upon, and we also have a great responsibility to the world. It seems to me that real patriotism challenges us today to be devoted to the best spiritual traditions of our land, to be glad about them, and to live worthy of them. America would not be the great nation that it is had our forefathers been as spiritually indifferent as we are. Americans of the future will not be able to sing "Sweet land of liberty" unless we preserve the high ideals and standards of Christian manhood and womanhood which have been given to us. In the name of Heaven, then, let us lift up our hearts to God in real gratitude, not only for the blessings He has poured upon our land, but also for the responsibility with which He has entrusted us.

A Sound Investment

To the Citizens of Bucks County:
The 1938 Christmas Seal Sale begins today. Again we appeal to you to help us in our endless fight against tuberculosis.

Due to existing conditions the extent of our work has greatly increased during the past few years. Our nurse now travels an average of 2,000 miles each month to aid in the treatment of active tuberculosis cases. Scores of underprivileged children are periodically weighed and examined as a precaution against this dread disease. Numerous sufferers are transported to chest clinics and sanatoria. And general health talks are given before many organization meetings.

The extent of such work carried on throughout Bucks County depends solely upon the sale of Christmas Seals. If you do not receive your seals by mail within a week, won't you communicate with us?

The seals you purchase will mean better health—perhaps life itself—for someone.

Sincerely yours,
HAROLD H. KELLER,
President,
Bucks County Tuberculosis Society.

First Snow of Season Blocks Motor Traffic

and early this morning, and difficulty was experienced by scores of motorists as they attempted to negotiate hills. A number of cars found Torresdale and Red Lion hills too much for them, the tires refusing to hold in the soft and slippery snow.

The accidents which were reported to the Pennsylvania Motor Police at Oxford Valley barracks throughout yesterday, during the night and this morning were minor ones, with no injuries other than a few scratches to one or two individuals. Motorists travelled with great caution, with the result that many accidents were avoided," state the patrolmen.

Traffic moved very slowly on the Lincoln Highway and on Bristol Pike. In some of the outlying sections, where drifts were piled as much as two feet, the roads were reported as impassable. All along the thoroughfares in this area cars were to be seen stuck in drifts or stalled. Many, playing safe, left machines at home, choosing rather to walk.

The state snow-plows were expected to be at work during the morning, in order to make travel more safe on the Lincoln Highway, and plows had at an early hour cleared Bristol Pike.

The lowest temperature recorded in Bristol was 29, the mercury keeping between 20 and 22 throughout the night.

Children, on Thanksgiving vacation, were delighted with the whiteness that greeted them upon arising today, and unlike their elders who had difficulty in getting to their employment, found joy in the day that lay ahead.

The heaviest snowfall since 1908 today blanketed central Pennsylvania with more than seven inches of snow. The temperature fell to below 20 degrees.

State Motor Police issued road warnings, declaring that many roads in the mountain areas were impassable and dangerous. Other roads were declared open but caution was advised. Motorists were warned of ice conditions.

The State Highway Department called out 375 trucks and 1200 men to help keep the main highways open and to clear dangerous spots in the state. Airline service at the Harrisburg airport was halted last night.

The snowstorm was declared to be practically statewide, with depths ranging from a half-inch to 10 inches. Rising temperatures over the weekend were forecast.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Whipped by a 38 mile wind, snow dropped its blanket of white over the eastern states today, demoralizing land, air and auto traffic, and causing death and numerous injuries.

New York experienced its coldest Thanksgiving in 40 years, as rain, then hail and snow came down during a freak and dramatic visitation of thunder and lightning.

Most airlines cancelled scheduled flights, many ocean liners were delayed in leaving or arriving at their piers. Main thoroughfares in the metropolitan area were closed until they could be sanded to lessen the hazard of ice-coating.

ON THE SCREENS

BRISTOL
The 1938 football season swings into action with a stirring gridiron romance, "Touchdown, Army," on the screen of the Bristol Theatre.

Robert Cummings, Joan Howard and Mary Carlisle head an impressive cast of younger players in this story which combines a romantic triangle with an action-packed football yarn and shows all the excitement, loyalties, conflicts and triumphs of West Point life.

Cummings, who has finally graduated from juvenile roles to the mature type of part he deserves, is seen as a cocky football hero from the home town who enters the Military Academy through the political influence of his guardian, William Frawley. His self-confidence has an unexpected effect, however, both upon his fellow-West Pointers, who give him the ride of his life, and upon the beautiful daughter of the commandant, Miss Carlisle, who turns a deaf ear to his advances.

One West Pointer who determines to make it especially tough for the newcomer is Howard, a popular upper-classman, whom Cummings foolishly antagonizes. In Howard's merciless ragging of the younger student is revealed the process by which West Point builds heroes out of raw boys.

In the spectacular climax scene of the picture, laid against the background of the Army-Navy game, Cummings gets his big chance to show final football scenes, bringing the story itself to a climax, are the highlights of the film. The game is as exciting as any big-time football game viewed from the sidelines.

The generations of people both young and old who have been thrilled by "Treasure Island," Robert Louis Stevenson's famous story of pirate adventure, will find the vivid story-book experiences of their youth created on the screen in the picture that opened today at the Grand Theatre, with Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper in co-starring roles.

Full power of the most widely read fiction book about pirates ever written has been retained in the adaptation by John Lee Mahin. Scenes have been reproduced exactly as described in the book with much of Stevenson's own dialogue between the characters followed to the word.

With Beery as Long John Silver and Jackie Cooper as Jim Hawkins, boy adventurer, a cast has been assembled to bring each rover of the Spanish Main to the screen with living reality. Lionel Barrymore's blistering Billy Bones is one of the most entertaining characters he has ever played; Otto Kruger is forceful as Dr. Livesey; Lewis Stone's personal knowledge of sailing ships gives convincing background to his role of Captain Smollett; Nigel Bruce is a ruddy and typically English Squire Trelawney; touches of quaint humor are put into the characterization of Ben Gunn, marooned pirate, by Chic Sale.

Also commendable in their minor roles are little Cora Sue Collins, William V. Mong, Charles McNaughton and Dorothy Peterson.

Victor Fleming, noted for the filming of such adventure pictures as "Rendezvous" and recently "Red Dust," directed the pirate film with rare skill and imagination.

BENSALEM SCORES UPSET, DEFEATING FALLS; SCORE, 14-7

Owls Close Dismal Season By Turning in Victory Over Favored Opponents

AN INTERESTING GAME

Contest Bitterly Fought All The Way Through The Game

FALLS, Nov. 25.—The Bensalem Owls closed their rather dismal grid campaign by turning in an upset victory over the favored Fallington Falcons here Wednesday afternoon, 14-7.

Both teams counted a touchdown in the second canto but the Owls added one in the final session that Fallington couldn't equal and so coach George Reimer's lads emerged the victors, 14-7.

After an exchange of punts in the early moments of the game, Jack Scarborough fumbled for Bensalem on the Owls ten yard stripe where Fallington recovered. After pushing to the five yard line on the first play, the Falcons were tossed back to the seven on the following attempt at the line, and after a failure to gain at all, they picked up two yards on the last attempt to put the ball back on the five again.

After kicking out of danger, then receiving another punt, the visitors pushed down deep into Fallington's territory when they marched to the home club's 10 yard line. However, at that spot, Stanley Felkner intercepted a pass for Fallington to stop the threat.

Then it wasn't till the Owls pushed over their first touchdown that either team got within the opposition's 20 yard line. Taking the ball on an exchange of punts at the mid-field stripe, Bensalem made a first down on the 40, then Jack Scarborough completed a pass to Joe Cahill on the 30 and the latter ran to the 23 where he was tossed out of bounds. On the following play, Captain Jack heaved an aerial to Norman Tettemer, who caught the ball after George Channing batted it down and ran five yards into the end zone to score. Leo Riley hit the line to pick up the extra point.

But Appenzeller took the kickoff and returned it five yards to his own 35. The Falcons then made two consecutive first downs to place the ball on Bensalem's 40 yard stripe. Then Stanley Felkner faded back and chucked a pass to Bud Appenzeller, who took it on the 30 and ran into the end zone standing up without being touched. The score was tied at 7-7 when Walt Wasurki cracked the line to add the single counter after the first attempt failed. But Bensalem was off side and so Fallington received another chance, and made good.

Shortly after Fallington scored, the period ended. There was then no serious activity on the part of either team to penetrate deeply into the opposition's territory until the last period.

Joe Cahill intercepted a forward pass tossed by Walt Wasurki and ran 35 yards into the end zone without an opponent touching him in the score standing up, to count the winning touchdown in the opening minute of the last period. Again Riley hit the line for the extra point, making the final score read, 14-7, with the Owls on the long end.

In the closing minutes of the fourth period, Bill Batten recovered a Bensalem fumble on the Owls 38 yard line and Fallington marched down to the 18, but lost the ball there on downs. A moment later the game ended.

Walt Wasurki and Joe Cahill starred in the Falcons' defeat, while Jack Scarborough and Joe Cahill starred in the Owls' victory.

And in spite of early season setbacks, the Owls came along steadily through the last half to wind up with three wins, four defeats and a pair of ties in nine tilts which was not bad at all in consideration of the material with which coach Reimer had to work with.

SPECIAL STAMPS

HELSINKI, Greenland—(INS)—Greenland is to have her own postage stamps from December 1, it is reported here. A polar bear on an ice floe will be depicted on all the stamps except one, which will bear the likeness of King Christian of Denmark. At present Danish stamps are used in Greenland.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass.—(INS)—The strangest accident here in some time caused Miss Phyllis Dodd considerable embarrassment and pain. Miss Dodd's hair became caught in the wringer of her washing machine causing scalp bruises and tearing much of her hair out by the roots.

LANGHORNE SCORES WIN OVER NEWTOWN

LANGHORNE, Nov. 25.—The Langhorne Redskins scored a 6-0 upset win over the Newtown Indians in the annual Thanksgiving Day Indian grid warfare played here yesterday morning before a capacity crowd.

The victory gave the Langhorne clan their sixth victory in the eleven year old series of twelve games. It was a wide open ball game with plenty of action and thrills to give the fans a bit of an added attraction.

The lone touchdown, which was scored by the Redskins, came in the second period. And Bob Taddel, left guard, became the hero in Langhorne by counting the only six pointer. He used the means of intercepting a lateral pass and returning it 20 yards which enabled him to score standing up with the winning marker. The extra point try failed.

Newtown put forth its most serious scoring threat in the third period when little George Dutton, acting quarterback in the absence of Captain Jack Nolan, broke into the clear on an off-tackle slant and raced 61 yards from his own 25 yard line to Langhorne's 11 where he was downed by Captain Chuck Klein. However, the chucker promptly intercepted a pass and the Newtown bid to hit pay dirt was turned back.

It was at this time that a Newtown player was caught swinging at Bob Hastings for which the Indians were penalized 15 yards. But when coach Charlie Beck came upon the scene to treat his injured star, the officials claimed he was "meddling" and so they set the ball back on the 11 yard line after penalizing Langhorne 15 yards.

FOUR CAGE TEAMS TO SEE ACTION TONIGHT

BRISTOL BASKETBALL LEAGUE

Schedule for Tonight

ROHM & HAAS—CELTICS

HIBERNIANS—FALLS ALUMNI

Local basketball fans will have the opportunity of seeing the remaining four teams of the Bristol Basketball League in action tonight when two games are scheduled to be played on the Italian Mutual Aid court.

In the first tilt, Rohm and Haas meets Vito Della's Celtics and in the second encounter, Gene Dugan's Hibernians' five is opposed to the Falls Township Alumni quintet.

Manager "Jimmy" Eagan of the chemical workers has moulded to gether a fast team to represent the Maple Beach boys. At the center post he will use the veteran "Dates" Pegely.

His forwards will be Eddie Slaughter and Ralph Cahill, the latter a star forward for Bristol High a few seasons back. Jimmy Massilla and Bobby Weideman will be at the guard posts.

The Celts had quite a job getting together but Della will have a team that will be in there fighting from start to finish. He recently signed Wilbur VanLenten and Jimmy Wollard, both of whom played with the Bristol High

The fourth down Kervick went back to throw a pass but two Purple and Gold linemen spilled him for a ten yard loss. St. Ann's did not gain any yardage on two plays, but a bad pass from center caused a fumble and it was recovered by a Rec player on the four-yard line. Zeffries gained a yard and then Bono went over on a play through the center of the line. Johnny Dougherty's placekick for the extra point was wide of the post.

The remainder of the struggle was with the Recs on the defense. In the third session the champions had their backs to the goal line twice, only to have Punkie Zeffries boot the ball out of danger on good kicks, considering the weather and wet ball. At the beginning of the fourth period, St. Ann's reached the two-yard stripe of the ultimate winners, but Joe Conti fumbled and it was recovered by a Rec lineman.

In the fourth period the Purple and Gold made their only score of the game. After continually driving back the boys coached by "Gige" Dougherty, the Recs received the ball on their five-yard line. "Punkie" Zeffries went back to kick but the toe which was instrumental in keeping the St. Ann's team in check throughout, failed, and his boot went straight up in the air, the wind carrying it back to beyond the goal line, where the veteran St. Ann's lineman, "Henny" Kornstedt, fell on it for a touchdown. Petrucci's drop-kick for the extra point failed.

Zeffries and Bono starred for the Recs on the offense, with Baker and Wilson doing good work on the line. Conti and Orzai did good work for the losers, carrying the ball while on the defense the work of Gallatto and Proty stood out.

St. Ann's will play at Roslyn on Sunday afternoon.

Morrisville Wins Annual Grid Classic By One Point

line of defense, they picked up exactly one foot. On fourth down they kicked once and tossed a pass which was grounded the second time.

Bristol's line was sparked by the sensational playing of little Joe Claiella, the dynamite of the locals' defense. He smeared Morrisville's running attack on many occasions before it had a chance to get started. And with shoe-string tackles he seldom failed to bring his man down, often tossing them for big losses. Helping Claiella was Joe Pica and Wilmer White at ends, and in the backfield it was once more Danny DIMIDIO who played a great game on both the defense and offense for Bristol.

For Morrisville, Jim Yeager stood head and shoulders above all the rest, with his sensational running, especially on returning kicks, and on intercepted passes. Co-starring with him in the Bulldogs' victory were Albie Johnson, star end, and Frank Mattis, a stalwart on the line.

The tilt was one of the cleanest ever waged between the two schools, as the players exhibited a remarkable bit of sportsmanship in spite of the keen and bitter rivalry existing between the teams. Bristol succeeded in stopping the Bulldogs' great running attack, but failed to subdue their aerial raids in the second period, and that proved fatal to them as later events showed.
